

Whistleblowing Policy – All Staff

1.1 What is Whistleblowing?

In this policy 'Whistleblowing' means the reporting by employees of suspected misconduct, illegal acts or failure to act within the scope of Inspire

The aim of this Policy is to encourage employees and others who have serious concerns about any aspect of Inspire's work to come forward and voice those concerns.

Employees are often the first to realise that there may be something seriously wrong within the Organisation 'Whistleblowing' is viewed by Inspire as a positive act that can make a valuable contribution to Inspire's efficiency and long-term success. It is not disloyal to colleagues or the Organisation to speak up. Inspire is committed to achieving the highest possible standards of service and the highest possible ethical standards in public life and in all of its practices. To help achieve these standards it encourages freedom of speech.

If you are considering raising a concern you should read this Policy first. It explains:

- the type of issues that can be raised
- how the person raising a concern will be protected from victimisation and harassment
- how to raise a concern, and
- what the Organisation will do.

If you are unsure whether to use this Policy or want independent advice at any stage, you may contact the independent charity Protect: Speak up, Stop Harm tel: 02031172520. Their advisers can give you free confidential advice on how to raise a concern about serious malpractice at work.

2. What is the aim of the Policy and when does it apply?

2.1 Aims of the Policy

The Policy is designed to ensure that you can raise your concerns about wrongdoing or malpractice within Inspire without fear of victimisation, subsequent discrimination, disadvantage or dismissal.

It is also intended to encourage and enable you to raise serious concerns within Inspire rather than ignoring a problem or 'blowing the whistle' outside.

This Policy aims to:

- encourage you to feel confident in raising serious concerns at the earliest opportunity and to question and act upon concerns about practice
- provide avenues for you to raise those concerns and receive feedback on any action taken
- ensure that you receive a response to your concerns and that you are aware of how to pursue them if you are not satisfied
- reassure you that you will be protected from possible reprisals or victimisation if you have made any disclosure in good faith.

2.2. Scope of this Policy

This Policy is intended to enable those who become aware of wrongdoing within Inspire affecting some other person or service, to report their concerns at the earliest opportunity so that they can be properly investigated.

The Whistle Blowing Policy is not intended to replace existing procedures:

- if your concern relates to your own treatment as an employee, you should raise it under the existing grievance procedure
- if a client has a concern about services provided to him/her, it should be raised as a complaint to Inspire

2.3. Who Can Raise A Concern Under This Policy?

The Policy applies to all:

- employees of Culture, Learning, Libraries Midlands (Inspire)*
- employees of contractors working for Inspire, for example, agency staff, tutors
- employees of suppliers
- volunteers

* If you are employed in, working with or assisting Nottinghamshire schools there is a specific whistleblowing code for you because of the special relationship that exists with the schools' governing bodies.

2.4. What should be reported?

Any serious concerns that you have about service provision or the conduct of officers or members of the Board that:

- make you feel uncomfortable in terms of known standards
- are not in keeping with Inspire's Constitution and policies
- seriously threaten or compromise Inspire's ability to meet its contractual arrangements.
- fall below established standards of practice; or
- are improper behaviour.

These might relate to:

- conduct which is an offence or a breach of the law (a criminal offence has been committed or failing to comply with any other legal obligation)
- disclosures related to miscarriages of justice
- racial, sexual, disability or other discrimination
- health and safety of the public and/or other employees
- damage to the environment
- unauthorised use of public funds or other assets
- possible fraud and corruption
- neglect or abuse of clients

- covering up wrongdoing
- other unethical conduct.

This list is not exhaustive.

3. Protecting the Whistleblower

3.1. Your Legal Rights

This policy has been written to take account of the Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998 which protects workers making disclosures about certain matters of concern, when those disclosures are made in accordance with the Act's provisions and in good faith.

The Act makes it unlawful for Inspire to dismiss anyone or allow them to be victimised on the basis that they have made an appropriate lawful disclosure in accordance with the Act.

Rarely, a case might arise where it is the employee that has participated in the action causing concern. In such a case it is in the employee's interest to come into the open as soon as possible. Inspire cannot promise not to act against such an employee, but the fact that they came forward may be taken into account.

3.2. Harassment or Victimisation

Inspire is committed to good practice and high standards and to being supportive of you as an employee.

Inspire recognises that the decision to report a concern can be a difficult one to make. If you honestly and reasonably believe what you are saying is true, you should have nothing to fear because you will be doing your duty to your employer, your colleagues and those for whom you are providing a service.

Inspire will not tolerate any harassment or victimisation of a whistleblower (including informal pressures) and will take appropriate action to protect you when you raise a concern in good faith and will treat this as a serious disciplinary offence which will be dealt with under the disciplinary rules and procedure.

3.3. Support to You

Throughout this process:

- you will be given full support from Inspire Leadership Team
- your concerns will be taken seriously; and
- Inspire will do all it can to help you throughout the investigation.

If appropriate, the Inspire Leadership Team will consider temporarily re-deploying you for the period of the investigation.

For those who are not Inspire employees, Inspire will endeavour to provide appropriate advice and support wherever possible.

3.4. Confidentiality

All concerns will be treated in confidence and every effort will be made not to reveal your identity if that is your wish. If disciplinary or other proceedings follow the investigation, it may not be possible to take action as a result of your disclosure without your help, so you may be asked to come forward as a witness. If you agree to this, you will be offered advice and support.

3.5. Anonymous Allegations

This Policy encourages you to put your name to your allegation whenever possible. If you do not tell us who you are it will be much more difficult for us to protect your position or to give you feedback. This Policy is not ideally suited to concerns raised anonymously.

Concerns expressed anonymously are much less powerful, but they may be considered at the discretion of the Inspire Board. In exercising this discretion, the factors to be taken into account would include:

- the seriousness of the issue raised
- the credibility of the concern; and
- the likelihood of confirming the allegation from other sources.

Anonymous disclosures can be received by letter (see address section 4.1) or by submitting an anonymous question online via Let's Talk (Learning Pool).

3.6. Untrue Allegations

If you make an allegation in good faith and reasonably believing it to be true, but it is not confirmed by the investigation, Inspire will recognise your concern and you have nothing to fear. If however, you make an allegation frivolously, maliciously or for personal gain, appropriate action that could include disciplinary action, may be taken.

4. Raising A Concern

4.1. Who should you raise your concern with?

This will depend on the seriousness and sensitivity of the issues involved and who is suspected of the wrongdoing. You should normally raise concerns with:

- Your Line Manager
- Inspire Leadership Team (ILT) Member
- The Chief Executive Officer

The address for correspondence is Inspire HQ, Unit 4-6 Glaisdale Parkway, Nottingham, NG8 4GP

If, exceptionally, the concern is about the Chief Executive Officer of Inspire your concern should be raised with the Chair of the Inspire Board.

4.2. How to Raise a Concern

You may raise your concern by telephone, in person or in writing or online. The earlier you express your concern, the easier it is to take action. You will need to provide the following information:

- the nature of your concern and why you believe it to be true

- the background and history of the concern (giving relevant dates).

Although you are not expected to prove beyond doubt the truth of your suspicion, you will need to demonstrate to the person contacted that you are acting in good faith and there are reasonable grounds for your concern.

You may wish to consider discussing your concern with a colleague first and you may find it easier to raise the matter if there are two (or more) of you who have had the same experience or concerns.

You may invite your trade union, professional association representative or a friend to be present for support during any meetings or interviews in connection with the concerns you have raised.

There is also an elearning on Learning Pool – Whistleblowing with confidence available to all staff.

5. What Inspire Will Do

Inspire will respond to your concerns as quickly as possible. Do not forget that acknowledging your concerns is not the same as either accepting or rejecting them.

The overriding principle for Inspire will be the public interest. In order to be fair to all employees, including those who may be wrongly or mistakenly accused, initial enquiries will be made to decide whether an investigation is appropriate and, if so, what form it should take.

The investigation may need to be carried out under terms of strict confidentiality, i.e. by not informing the subject of the complaint until (or if) it becomes necessary to do so. In certain cases, however, such as allegations of ill treatment of others, suspension from work may have to be considered immediately. Protection of others is paramount in all cases.

Where appropriate, the matters raised may:

- be investigated by management, internal audit, or through the disciplinary/grievance process
- be referred to the police
- be referred to the external auditor
- be referred and put through established child protection/abuse procedures
- form the subject of an independent inquiry.

Within ten working days of a concern being raised, the person investigating your concern will write to you:

- acknowledging that the concern has been received
- indicating how Inspire proposes to deal with the matter
- supplying you with information on staff support mechanisms
- telling you whether further investigations will take place and if not, why not.

The amount of contact between you and the officers considering the issues will depend on the nature of the matters raised, the potential difficulties involved and the clarity of your information. It is likely that you will be interviewed to ensure that your disclosure is fully understood.

Any meeting can be arranged away from your workplace, if you wish, and a union or professional association representative or a friend may accompany you in support.

Inspire will do what it can to minimise any difficulties that you may experience as a result of raising a concern. For instance, if you are asked to give evidence in criminal or disciplinary proceedings, Inspire will arrange for you to receive appropriate advice and support.

You need to be assured that your disclosure has been properly addressed. Unless there are any legal reasons why this cannot be done, you will be kept informed of the progress and outcome of any investigation.

6. How The Matter Can Be Taken Further

This Policy is intended to provide you with an avenue within Inspire to raise concerns. Inspire hopes you will be satisfied with any action taken. If you are not, and you feel it is right to take the matter outside Inspire, you may consider reporting your matter to a relevant prescribed person or body (see gov.uk for a list),

If you raise concerns outside Inspire you should ensure that it is to one of these prescribed contacts. A public disclosure to anyone else could take you outside the protection of the Public Interest Disclosure Act and of this Policy.

You should not disclose information that is confidential to Inspire or to anyone else, such as a customer or contractor of Inspire, except to those included in the list of prescribed contacts.

This Policy does not prevent you from taking your own legal advice.
